Beauty Pageant Tonight Will Close the Saline County Fair

24 Girls in Jaycee-Sponsored Contest; Society Horse Show Held Friday Night

The 51st annual Saline County Fair will close this evening with the presentation of the Harrisburg Jaycee-sponsored Beauty Pageant. Twenty-four of Saline county's loveliest girls will compete for the title of Miss Saline County. This event always attracts considerable attention and the biggest crowd of the fair is expected.

The Beauty pageant begins at 8 p. m.

Friday night a fine group of riders and horses participated in the Society Horse show, showing in nine classes.

Dr. N. A. Thompson of Eldorado was the only Saline county rider to take a first place, being awarded the blue ribbon and silver trophy in the Tennessee Walking Mares class. Dr. Thompson was riding his Midnights Merry Bird.

Dr. Thompson also rode for the Oakley Stables of Herrin in the Tennessee Walking Stallion or Gelding class and with Sun's Pay Off topped top honors.

In the Tennessee Walking Mares show another Saline county rider, Mrs. L. M. Hancock, riding Sun's Trixie Girl, took the second place award.

H. Morganthaler of Pinckneyville was judge of the show, Curtis G. Small of Harrisburg ringmaster, George B. Lee, Harrisburg, announcer, Mrs. Dan Ludlow was show superintendent and Mrs. W. D. Tuttle assistant superintendent.

Trophies and ribbons in all classes were presented by Saline county young ladies in formal attire and Johnny Mack, nationally known organist, played throughout the show.

Illinois Legion Rejects Civil Rights Resolution

Delegates Express Sympathy to Widow Of Sen. McCarthy

CHICAGO (AP)—The Illinois Department of the American Legion went into the third day of its convention here today, fresh from a stormy session in which it rejected a watered-down resolution or the civil rights issue, criticized its national commander for speaking out on "controversial" subjects, and expressed its sympathy to the widow of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

The civil rights resolution, which in its final form merely noted recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions which ban segregation and rule against the "separate but equal" facilities position held by some states, was shouted down by delegates to the 39th annual state convention.

Edward Clamage, chairman of the veteran group's anti-subversive committee, said the measure was "unnecessary." Another delegate called it useless and repetitive.

A debate was touched off after a resolution of condolence to McCarthy's widow had been passed. Ernest R. McHale, East St. Louis, asked why McCarthy's widow had been singled out for sympathy. Clamage asked that McHale's remarks be stricken from the record. They were.

Another resolution prohibits the national commander from speaking on controversial subjects. Remarks by the present commander, W. C. Daniels, had caused "embarrassment" to many Legionnaires, the resolution said.

In other action, the veterans called for federal pensions for World War I servicemen, condemned the U. S. government's stand in the case of Specialist 3C William S. Girard, Ottawa, who was turned over to Japanese authorities on manslaughter charges, and asked Congress to abolish the status of forces agreements.

A parade of 10,000 Legionnaires and representatives of all branches of the armed services will begin at 1 p. m. c. d. t. Sunday. It will start at Ontario Street and Michigan Avenue and the mile-long procession is expected to draw a crowd of 200,000 persons as it goes through the downtown area, past a reviewing stand on Michigan Avenue near Congress Parkway.

General Phone to Move Offices To Bloomington

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—General Telephone Co. of Illinois has announced it will move its headquarters from Springfield to Bloomington.

Burton W. Saunders, company president, said Friday the move will be made within two years and will affect about 200 employees. Saunders said the move is necessary because the company's building here is too small for the firm's expanding operation and cannot be enlarged.

He said a new building will be constructed at Bloomington and that several sites are under consideration there.

Bloomington is the largest of the 301 exchanges in Illinois served by the telephone company, which does not serve Springfield.

Former Eldorado Man Found Hanged in Shed at Home in Evansville

EVANSVILLE, Ind. — A 78-year-old retired plasterer, formerly of Eldorado, Ill., was found hanged in a shed behind his residence at 319 Oak St. Thursday night.

Neighbors missed John Perry Awalt about 9:45 p. m. Miss Rebecca McClure, of 321 Oak, Mrs. Loraine Pike, of 315 Oak, Lyle Huffman, of 412 SE rd, and Harold Beck, who operates Harold's Bar and Grill at 1811 Waggoner Ave., found him about 9:30 p. m., hanging from a joist in the shed. Beck called police.

After Awalt retired as a plasterer, he worked as a guard at Hoosier Cardinal Corp. until 1945.

He is survived by his wife, Clara, a stepdaughter, Mrs. Russell Barnett, of Evansville; two stepsons, Robert R. Powers, of Evansville, and George N. Powers, of Columbus, O.; two brothers and four stepgrandchildren.

TOMMY SMITH, enjoying his retirement, has turned his attention to flowers and the Smith yard at 120 West Elm is one of the most beautiful and colorful in this area. Mrs. Smith is just as pleased as Tommy with the fine flowers, but insists it is all his work and he deserves the credit. Tom resigned something more than a year ago after 38 years with CIPS and this spring decided to try his hand at growing flowers. He was successful. There are marigolds, zinnias, nasturtiums, cannas, coxcomb, petunias, foliage, moss, sage, petunias and the garage door is framed with morning glories. Tom also has a couple of the tree-type tomato plants in the back yard and is pulling 1½-pound tomatoes that are delicious he reports. Tommy, at right, takes a close look at one of the prize flowers and a general view of the Smith home and yard is shown above.

Seek Missing Farmer

Landslide Halts Excavation of Old Mine to Solve Possible Murder

SUMMUM, Ill. (AP)—An abandoned coal mine near this Spoon River village today kept locked in its deep recesses the solution, if any, to the possible murder of a nearby townsman.

A landslide Friday hurled tons of freshly-dug dirt and waste back down a 60-foot shaft which Fulton County Sheriff Virgil Ball had ordered excavated in an effort to solve the disappearance of Fay Rawley, a rich farmer who lived near the mine and who last was seen alive on a night in November, 1953.

Rawley vanished without trace from this mining community and all efforts to trace him or locate his body have failed.

The mine, a worked-out strip area, was abandoned at the time of the missing man's disappearance and was filled with earth, rock and waste material.

The sheriff's theory is that Rawley, murdered and sealed in the trunk of his car, now lies entombed in the bowels of the mine.

Through the week the giant shovels chewed and heaved as they tore away the earth that filled in the shaft almost four years ago.

Since the excavation started thousands of the curious have lined the edges of the pit hoping for a glimpse of a grisly discovery.

Fortunately, state troopers on the scene had kept sightseers a safe distance from the digging when the cave-in occurred or any might have been swept into the hole with the crumbling earth.

A half dozen excavation workers, shoveling by hand to the final level of the mine barely escaped injury when they were able to scramble up the side of the earthen wall as the landslide started.

The cave-in was disheartening to Ball who has maintained a nervous vigil since the exhuming operation began. Only moments before the earth gave way he saw a shovel uncover something which gleamed like metal in the sun.

Ball and another officer rushed toward the spot only to be turned back as the sounds of the earth-slide signaled the collapse of the shaft.

"If I'd got any closer to that shiny thing I saw, they would have been digging me out instead of Rawley," he said.

The sheriff, still determined, and still confident his efforts will lead to Rawley's body, said the power shovels will resume digging on Monday.

Judge's Ruling Sets Timetable For Appearance

McClellan Confirms Hoffa Subpoenaed, But No Date Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators arranged today for Johnny Dio and three other convicted labor racketeers to be sprung from their cells long enough to testify on their links with James R. Hoffa, sole candidate for the presidency of the Teamsters Union.

General Sessions Judge John A. Mullen ruled in New York that Dio and his three henchmen should be paroled to face the Senate's questions about racket exploitation of low-paid Puerto Rican and Negro workers in the nation's largest city. They are due back behind bars the day after they testify.

Mullen's original order set this timetable:

—Dio, friend of Hoffa and the Teamster vice president's alleged ally in a drive to clamp a stranglehold on East Coast transportation, will be paroled Wednesday in custody of his attorney, for testimony Thursday. Dio, whose real name is Dioguardi, was convicted last month of conspiring to extort money from employers for labor peace. He is also under indictment in the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

Hoffa Subpoena Confirmed

—Max Chester, former official of a retail clerks union local, will be released to testify Monday.

—Samuel Goldstein, president of a Teamsters local, will be released for Thursday testimony.

—Alfred Reger, official of a Teamster Union Local 522 in New York, will be sent to Washington under armed guard to testify Aug. 12. He is serving five years to 10 in Sing Sing for extortion. Chester and Goldstein were convicted with Dio.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) confirmed to newsmen that Hoffa has also been subpoenaed, but said no date was set for his appearance. Hoffa said his subpoena was for Aug. 13, but such a document must bear some definite date which can be changed later.

McClellan told reporters that testimony Friday disclosed "perfectly obvious" racketeering in New York. Witnesses told how contracts with Dio-Hoffa union locals called for only the legal minimum wage of $1 an hour—or less—and gave no benefits to many Negro and Puerto Rican workers who often did not even know they were union members.

Allocate $178 Million Soil Bank Fund for Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has allocated 178 million dollars of the 1958 soil bank acreage reserve appropriation for the 1958 spring and winter wheat crops.

The department also set the national average rate payment for the 1958 crop—both spring and winter—at $20.88 per acre, with available wheat price supports averaging $1.78 a bushel. The 1957 rate was about $20.04 per acre, with price supports averaging two dollars a bushel.

The soil bank sign-up period for winter wheat will run from Aug. 26 to Oct. 4. All farmers who have an "old farm" wheat acreage allotment for 1958 and who normally grow winter wheat, will be eligible.

The department also announced tougher general provisions for the 1958 soil bank program. This year, by congressional order, individual payments will be limited to $3,000 per farmer.

To limit the shifting of land from one set of crops to another, the department will set up a "soil bank base." A farmer will have to limit his harvested acres to the amount of his base minus the number of acres he agreed to retire from production. The base will be the total of the average of all crops except hay harvested in 1956 and 1957.

STATE POLICE SAW THIS INTERIOR VIEW OF THE COLONY CLUB near the Cape bridge when they raided this place and three others simultaneously at 6 p. m. yesterday. Shown in the swank interior are the roulette wheel table at the left, the dice table in the background and slot machines at the right. Also raided by ten plainclothes state policemen directed by Capt. Elza Brantley and Lt. Earl Pogue were the Purple Crackle and Thunderbird, nearby, and the El Patio, closer to Cairo. State police said gambling equipment was found in all places. Search warrants were used to make the raids. Officers from this area who participated were Sgt. Murray Stinson of Eldorado, Sgt. Herbert Bramlet of Equality, Guthrie Alexander of Harrisburg and Mike Taggart of Ridgway.

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer

By this time the careful gardener probably has his raspberry patch cleaned up, cultivated or mulched, and is obtaining vigorous new plant growth on which next year's crop of berries will be produced.

If, like this columnist, the job
has been neglected until this late in the season, the project should have immediate attention. Dr.
Lowell R. Tucker, horticulturist
at Southern Illinois University, says that dead or dying plants may be pruned from the raspberry hills as soon as the fruiting season is over. The plants that have produced a crop of berries may die, especially if they are home of the red varieties. These ought to be removed.

Red raspberries produce new plants by sending up shoots or suckers from the hill. Black and purple varieties will start new plants from the tips of shoots that have been covered with soil.

Mulching the raspberry bed is a good practice. Besides keeping down weeds, mulch will help keep the soil loose and prevent rapid drying in the heat of the summer.
If available, rotten manure is a good raspberry mulch because it helps add fertility to the soil. Old straw that has been exposed to enough weathering to sprout grain
also is good.

The proper time to transplant
raspberries for starting a new bed
is during the plant's dormant stage anytime between leaf fall in autumn and the beginning of growth in the spring. Usually they are transplanted in early springs.
The best type of soil is a silt loam
that has plenty of organic matter
and good moisture-holding qualities in dry seasons.

Tucker says it is a good idea to plant more than one variety so that harvesting may be extended.
Comberland is a widely grown black variety that has a glossy finish. Two or three kinds of red raspberries may be grown. Sunrise is an early maturing red variety that may be ready for picking by the end of the first week in June. Coming a little later is the Newburgh variety. September and Indiana Summer are two comparatively recent introductions
in the red raspberry group that produces fruit both in the spring and in the fall. Potomac is a variety of purple raspberry that produces larger fruit than either the red or the black varieties and has a tall, vigorous plant.

Gardeners whose spring and summer vegetable crops have about given up the ghost because of the heat, or because the crops have been harvested, should be starting vegetables for a fall garden. Green beans, sweet corn, and turnips all do well, and may be planted in this area until the end of the first or second week of August.

William T. Andrew, SIU vegetable specialist, says the way to calculate how late vegetables may be planted for the fall garden is to know the normal time required for plant maturity and count back from the average date for the first killing frost. In Southern Illinois killing frosts usually come near October 20. Some allowance must be made for differences between northern and southern counties of the area.

Green beans and some of the faster maturing varieties of sweet corn will be ready for table use by the end of September if planted as late as the first week in August. Turnips, radishes, lettuce, spinach, and beets are cooler
weather vegetables which may be

This 'Old-Timer' Isn't Revered

URBANA—There's at least one
"old-timer" that isn't revered by Illinois dairymen. This one is mastitis.

Veterinarians at the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine say that, despite the long time in which mastitis has been recognized as a serious disease of dairy cows, it is still causing dairymen heavy losses.

What causes mastitis? Udder injuries are considered important factors in opening the door to invasion of various types of bacteria that can cause infectious mastitis. So the farmer will do himself a favor by cutting down on the ways in which a cow can injure herself. Some causes of injury are stalls that are too short,
inadequate bedding, high door sills or jump gates and forcing the cow to run.

The dairyman should be on the lookout for any change in the milk
or the cow's udder—a warning that mastitis may be present. A few flakes in the milk or a firm area in a teat or quarter is usually the first sign of the disease. If proper veterinary treatment is not given, the quarter may become swollen and inflamed and the milk
may change greatly within a few hours.

If you suspect mastitis, contact your local veterinarian to help him start a herd control program. This will include a new milking order which consists of milking healthy cows—especially first-calf heifers
—first and those with mastitis, or suspected of having mastitis, last.
It's also a good idea to use a strip cup or bakelite cup to check the milk of each cow before milking.
This shows abnormal changes in milk.

In addition, improperly operating milking machines or machines
that are left on too long may contribute to udder injury. Teat cups on milking machines should be in good condition and should be removed as soon as each quarter stops giving milk. Also, wipe teats and udder with a mild, warm antiseptic solution before milking, and use a clean cloth or paper towel
for each cow.

Once mastitis is discovered, the veterinarian must determine which type of infection is present and what should be done to control
it. Not all cases can be cured.
Treatment alone has not controlled and will not control mastitis as a herd problem. A well-organized herd program with veterinary supervision is necessary to deal with this persistent and costly problem.

planted later. Radishes develop in three or four weeks; lettuce, spin-ach, and turnips in 45 to 50 days.
Beets, carrots and cucumbers need 60 to 70 days for maturity.

Drier soil conditions are one of the problems in starting the fall garden. Seed must have moisture to germinate, so it must have a well-prepared seed bed and be planted deeper than in the spring.
In small home gardens, the furrow may be flooded before dropping the seed to hasten germination. Covering the row with a board, tar paper, or other material to retard drying and crusting until the seed sprouts will help. Remove as soon as the plants are ready to break the surface.

Garden Memo

Allow Grass to Grow Longer in Hot Weather

By Gardner Zade

NEA Service Staff Writer
Lawns need a particular kind of care in midsummer and later in the hot weather. There is danger in improper mowing.

Grass should be allowed to grow longer during hot weather. Like other living plants, its function can be compared to a factory's.
It takes up food and transforms it into energy. The green blades perform a vital function in this transformation. How can it go through this cycle if the plants are crippled by close cropping?

MANY HOUSEHOLDERS keep their cutting bar only a half inch from the ground. Yellowish stems are exposed and the lawn loses its uniformity of texture.

Grass should never be shorter than an inch and a half at this season. Creeping bent may be slightly shorter but never lower than an inch.

Frequent cuttings do no harm
if proper height is maintained. But it is better to cut at a certain height rather than set a schedule of cutting every week end.

A successful lawn is the result of good soil well prepared in advance and maintained constantly thereafter. In many areas, fall starting of lawns is preferred to spring starts.

Topsoil is the beginning. Ordinary field soil is not satisfactory.
Four inches of soil properly built up by experts to serve for a lawn
is the ideal foundation.

DON'T EXPECT to change clay or sand into topsoil by merely adding peat moss or manure or sowing soybeans and plowing under.

In sowing the grass in autumn, don't expect a miracle. Do the best you can and then improve by fertilizing, proper mowing and watering.

Seeds should be kept moist until they take hold. Don't mow until grass is three inches.

A weed-infested lawn should be rebuilt if 50 per cent of the area has been taken over. Weeds are effectively killed by one of the many weedicides now for sale. Apply as directed. Consult your local garden supply dealer.

Plow or turn over the soil to the depth of six or eight inches, then spread four-inch layer of the best topsoil available. Add good chemical fertilizer at the rate of 25 pounds per 1,000 square feet of area. Rake smooth and let stand a week or 10 days.

REMOVE ANY weeds which show themselves. During this period spread 40 to 50 per cent
chloroform or dieldrin at the rate of one pound per 1,000 square feet. Rake it in at least three days before sowing.

This will grub-proof the lawn
for five to seven years and kill the Japanese and other beetles.

Illinois Population Up; Down on Farms

URBANA—Illinois population is now estimated at 9.5 million, according to an estimate by C. L.
Folse, University of Illinois rural sociologist. This figure represents an increase of 872,000 since the 1950 census was taken.

Growth made during the last seven years has been about 10 percent. Folse points out that this is equal to the increase made during the entire decade 1940-50.

During the 86 months since the last census, monthly growth has averaged slightly more than 1 percent in Illinois.

Grass Silage Looks Good

Clover and alfalfa silage was made more than a month ago,
stored in trenches and covered first with clear plastic and then with sawdust. Inspection now reveals a product that is unusually bright and green. This forage was wilted before it was chopped, and then 200 pounds of ground grain was mixed with each ton. To date the only evidence of seepage is a narrow, light brown stain on the concrete floor.

Plastic Covering Corn Ground

A plastic similar to that covering the silage is also covering several plots of corn on the irrigation experiment. The purpose is two-fold: (1) to keep rainfall and irrigation water, except as wanted,
from falling on the plots and (2)
to cut down evaporation losses so that the only water that is lost will be that passing from the corn plants.

This type of study will permit researchers to determine precisely the amount of water used in the life processes of the corn plant, as well as to measure evaporation losses. This information will be important in making irrigation recommendations.

and-THROW capacity
for All your forage crops

Cut-and-throw knife action along the full 3-foot-wide cylinder of the Allis-Chalmers Forage Harvester means extra capacity when pulled by any tractor
... 2, 3, or 4-plow. You've got more cutting power than any other chopper in the business.

With the new-style grass attachment, the windrow pickup, and the row-crop attachment, you can field-chop any of your forage crops.

Whether you green-feed daily or store in the silo for later use, let us show you this chopper that keeps going where others slug down.

Two Escapees Surrender; Third Seized in South

BENTON, Ill. (AP) — Two of the four convicts who escaped from Menard State Penitentiary Sunday walked into Franklin County jail in Benton early this morning and surrendered.

Millard Carlile and Clarence Newberry said they had read in newspapers that they were wanted for questioning in the kidnapping of a Missouri motorist.

They said they surrendered because they wanted to tell authorities that they had had no part in any kidnapping.

The men said they did not know exactly where they had been since their escape. They said they hopped a freight train shortly after they broke out of the Menard Prison and had been riding "through the South."

Menard Prison Warden Ross Randolph went immediately to the Franklin County jail, accompanied by two FBI agents. Men are questioning the convicts this morning.

Joe Bill Strange, a third escapee is reported to have been apprehended in Alabama early today.

The whereabouts of the fourth escapee—56-year-old Francis Murphy—was not immediately known.

A sheriff's deputy at Benton said the men were unarmed when they surrendered.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
(Written for NEA Service)

A house constructed of stone appears to be more permanent than one made of wood or some other material. It is certainly better able to withstand the damage of wind or rain or even fire. It is also easier to maintain its appearance than are frame dwellings.

Regardless of its solidity and beauty no empty house is a home. People add domesticity to the dwelling, but love and care must be added before a home exists. The presence of God as the invited guest and host of the family is necessary to give reality and permanence to the home.

Without God a family lacks the motivation and the desire to work and live together.

Mamie Ends Denver Vacation

DENVER (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower ended her six-day Denver vacation today.

The First Lady was scheduled to return to Washington sometime today aboard the presidential plane.

Mrs. Eisenhower will observe her son John's 35th birthday in the capital city later today, one of the main reasons for the flight. She arrived in Denver on Monday on her first visit in her home town since the President's 1955 heart attack.

Wife of Columnist Peter Edson Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Dorothy Ann Schultze Edson, wife of NEA Columnist Peter Edson, died at Garfield Hospital Friday night after an illness of a year and a half.

Mrs. Edson, 57, was a native of Fort Wayne, Ind. The Edsons have no children.

Writing began about 6000 B. C., as a pictorial representation of events, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Gov't Demands Safety Devices On Refrigerators

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has issued new regulations requiring that refrigerators be equipped with safety devices to prevent children from being trapped in them and suffocating.

The regulations, announced Friday by the Commerce Department, will apply to all refrigerators shipped in interstate commerce after Oct. 30, 1958. They require that all refrigerator doors must be able to open from the inside.

The department cautioned, however, that its orders will not automatically solve the problem of children getting trapped in abandoned refrigerators. It said this still must "remain the concern of state and local laws and regulations."

Congress launched an investigation into the subject last year in the wake of nationwide alarm over the number of children who died while trapped in old refrigerators.

It subsequently ordered the Commerce Department to draw up directives requiring the use of safety devices on the inside of refrigerator doors.

Boy Rider Killed When Truck Hits Horse

MARISSA, Ill. (AP) — Sammy Bolderback Jr., 15, was killed Friday when the horse he was riding was struck by a truck.

The Illinois state highway patrol says the accident occurred on Ill. 13 near here.

Driver of the truck, Raymond C. Mulholland, said the horse bolted onto the highway into the path of his vehicle.

Mulholland is a resident of Marissa as was Bolderback.

Not As A Stranger

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Every one except only necessary crew and acting personnel were asked to leave the set while a scene was shot for "Band of Angels" in which sultry Yvonne De Carlo wears only a thin, rain-soaked nightgown. Clark Gable, co-star of the film, was permitted to remain. Her husband, bystander Bob Morgan, had to leave the set.

'Ruth, A Foreigner Who Won Her Way'

Ruth 1:22; 2:24, 8-12
GOLDEN TEXT: "The stranger that dwelleth with you shall be unto you as one born among you, and thou shalt love him as thyself." (Leviticus 19:34)

INTRODUCTION—Have you heard this recently?—"I don't know what this world is coming to!" "The young people are going off the dogs!" "When I was young, it never was like this!"

Every generation has its temptations, and every generation has its number who will yield to temptation and sin. Sometimes a nation will go through a period when it seems that the devil has the upper hand. Sin runs rampant. However, let it be said that in every generation there are those noble souls who will refuse to compromise, who will refuse to yield to temptation and sin.

The study of the book of Ruth in the Old Testament gives us just such a lovely story. The blackness of sin all around her made Ruth stand out brighter and fairer than all the rest.

I FAITHFUL RUTH (1:22)
Naomi and her husband and two sons had left Bethlehem because of the famine. They went down into the country of Moab. There the two sons fell in love with and married two Moabite girls, Ruth and Orpha.

Tragedy struck. The father and two sons died. This left three widows. Naomi decided to leave Moab and go back to her own people in Bethlehem. She tried to persuade Ruth and Orpha to remain in Moab with their own people.

Orpha kissed Naomi goodbye, but Ruth said: "Entreat me not to leave thee, or return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God: Where thou diest, I will die, and there will I be buried: the Lord do so to me, and more also, if I ought but death part thee and me." (1:16-17)

II HELPFUL RUTH (2:27)
It was God's law that the poor of the land must be permitted to follow the reapers and glean the fields for grain. Naomi and Ruth were desperately poor. Ruth proved her love for Naomi by going into Boaz's field to follow the reapers and pick up the fallen grain left on the ground.

Please note the attitude of the people toward this foreigner, Ruth. The laws concerned themselves with such cases. These people treated Ruth as one of themselves. We should all take a lesson here. We often have opportunity to entertain and be helpful to strangers and folks of a different race or creed or land.

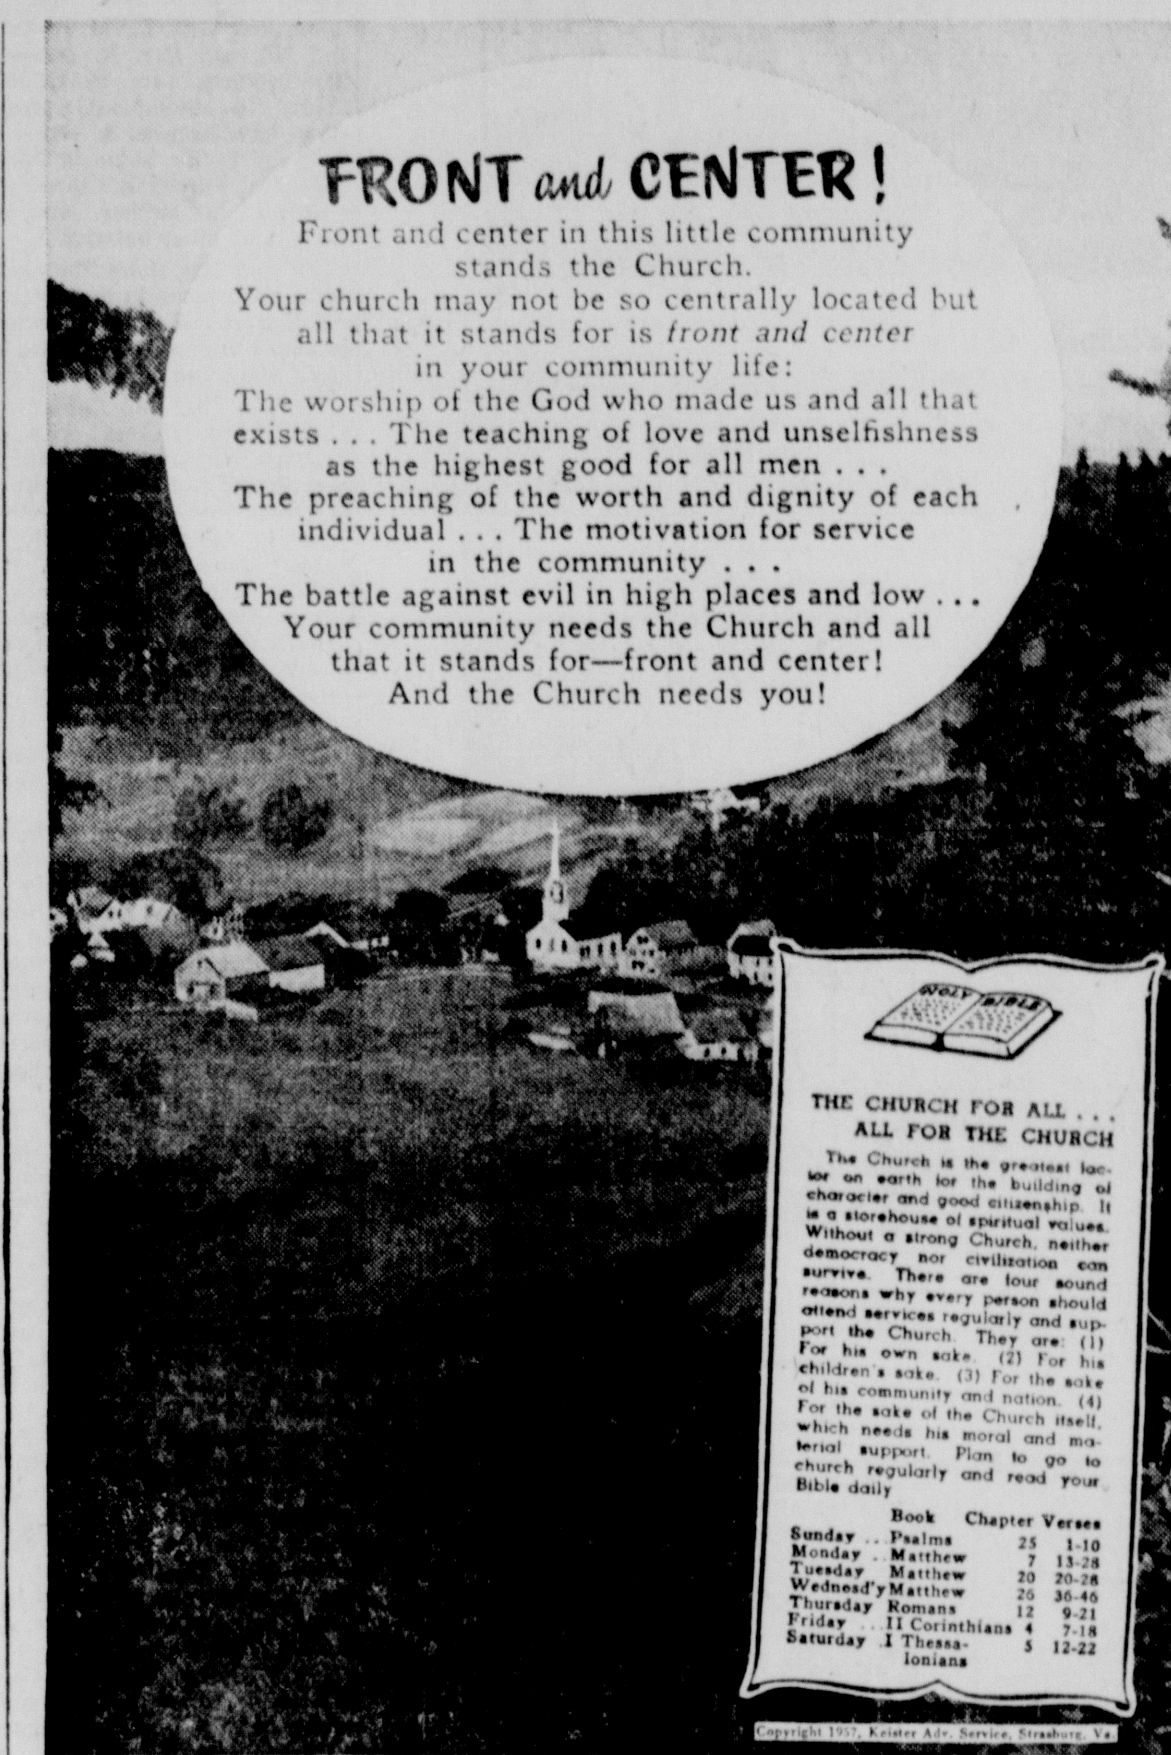

III. BOAZ AND RUTH (2:8-13)
God brought these two fine people together. He still does today. How beautiful it is to see two young people drawn together in bonds of love under God's leadership. God is interested in how homes are established. If every young person would pray for leadership in their love lives, many marriages would turn out differently. Many heartaches and pitfalls would be avoided.

CONCLUSION—(4:13-17) My! how God did bless this home. To Ruth and Boaz God gave a lovely son. From the very beginning they dedicated this child and themselves to God. It thrills the heart of any pastor to be called into a home where God has just placed a baby for safe keeping, and to have those parents request a prayer of dedication. God can only bless homes like this. It is never too late to turn to Him in acceptance and dedication. Why not turn to Him right now?

FRONT and CENTER!

Front and center in this little community stands the Church.

Your church may not be so centrally located but all that it stands for is front and center in your community life:

The worship of the God who made us and all that exists . . . The teaching of love and unselfishness as the highest good for all men . . .

The preaching of the worth and dignity of each individual . . . The motivation for service in the community . . .

The battle against evil in high places and low . . . Your community needs the Church and all that it stands for—front and center! And the Church needs you!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Stan Musial Blasts Triple, Two Doubles to Lead Cards To Seventh Straight Win

By United Press

Ma, that man's here again — slamm' Stan Musial — and if you're getting a bit tired of reading about him every day, consider those poor pitchers who have to go out there and take their lumps from him day after day.

Musial Friday night blasted a triple and a pair of doubles to help the St. Louis Cardinals reel off their seventh straight victory, a 10-inning 5-4 decision over the Philadelphia Phillies.

When it was all over, Stan the Man had taken over the National League batting leadership with a .339 average and the Cardinals had retained their hold on first place by two percentage points over the Braves. Musial broke up the ball game when he doubled with 2 out in the 10th to score Don Blasingame. The blow gave reliever Willard Schmidt his 10th victory and the Cards their 11th triumph in 16 extra-inning games this year. Joe Cunningham also homered for St. Louis while Stan Lopata and Harry Anderson each connected for the Phillies.

Lanky Gene Conley pitched and batted the Braves to a 1-0 victory over the Dodgers; Cincinnati handed the Giants their ninth consecutive loss, 9-6; and the Cubs beat the Pirates, 6-4.

Yanks Widen Lead

The Yankees widened their American League lead to five games with a 3-2 win over the Indians; the Red Sox nipped the White Sox, 5-4, in 10 innings; Washington emerged from the cellar with a 2-1 victory over Detroit, and the Orioles swept a two-night double-header from the Athletics, 5-4, in a 13-inning opener, and 10-2, in the nightcap.

Conley blanked Brooklyn on four hits and drove in the only run of the game when he singled home Johnny Logan from second base in the fifth inning. Southpaw Johnny Podres was the losing pitcher.

Wally Post won the game for Cincinnati when he wallowed a three-run homer in the ninth inning off Al Worthington. Giant Manager Bill Rigney shook up his lineup liberally in an attempt to snap a losing streak but homers by Bobby Thomson and Willie Mays were attached by homers off the bats of Ted Klusewski and Smokey Burgess. Reliever Hersh Freeman was the winner.

A three-run homer by Cal Neeman in the eighth inning was the payoff blow in the Cubs' triumph over the Pirates. Neeman's homer off Vern Law wiped out a 4-3 Pittsburgh lead gained on homers by Dick Groat, Bob Skinner and Gene Freese.

Pinch-hitter Harry Simpson singled home Jerry Coleman in the eighth inning with the run that gave the Yanks their fifth straight triumph. Southpaw Don Mossi held New York hitless for 6 1/3 innings only to run afoul of back-to-back homers by Gil McDougald and Mickey Mantle in the seventh. Tom Sturdivant posted his ninth victory with Bob Grim's aid in the ninth.

Williams Blasts No. 30
Ted Williams hit a three-run homer, his 30th, for the Red Sox in the fifth inning but it was Jackie Jensen's 10th-inning single with the bases loaded that won the game after the White Sox tied the score at 4-4 with two runs in the ninth. The victory went to reliever George Susce Jr.

Julio Becquer's pinch single in the ninth inning scored Pete Ramos from second base with the run that pulled Washington out of the cellar. Roy Sievers slammed his 29th homer, his fifth in as many consecutive games to move within one of the league record. Camilo Pascual pitched a five-hitter for his eighth victory. Paul Foytack was the loser.

Bob Boyd's 13th-inning homer off Tom Gorman gave the Orioles their victory in the opener and Connie Johnson and Ken Lehman combined to hold Kansas City to seven hits in the nightcap.

The Orioles broke a string of 33 straight scoreless innings when they scored a run in the second inning of the opener. Joe Durham homered for Baltimore while Hec Lopez and Woody Held did likewise for the A's.

Johnson, who went 6 1/3 innings, was the winner in the nightcap as the Orioles rapped five Kansas City pitchers for 11 hits. Ned Garver was the loser.

VFW vs. Bluford Here Sunday

The Harrisburg VFW baseball team will play the Bluford, Ill., Merchants Sunday at 2 p. m. on VFW Memorial field.

Bluford has an outstanding young ball club and has compiled a 9-3 record against older and more experienced ball clubs.

The VFW management plans on fielding a strong team Sunday with the team to be picked from the following players: Romonosky, Vick, McNew, Willis, Wallace, Tonazzi, Dallas, Stout, Odle, Proctor, Hay, Smith, Sisky, Hill, Emery and Hefner.

Locals should be out at 12:30 for hitting practice.

TWO-WAY HEAT—Jim Bunning cools off in the dugout. The Detroit recruit right-hander is hotter than the weather, thanks to his slider.

Pirates Fire Bragan; Murtaugh New Manager

CHICAGO AP — Bad boy Bobby Bragan was fired as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates by General Manager Joe L. Brown and replaced by coach Danny Murtaugh at an early morning press conference.

"I think for the present and future good of the Pittsburgh club that a change must be made," Brown said.

He said he would not make "any specific statement, now or later" concerning exactly what caused him to fire Bragan so suddenly.

Bragan, who came to the big leagues with a reputation as an umpire baiter and a field comedian, kept the same antics in the National League. Only this week he asked President Warren Giles of the National League to break up a team of umpires which Bragan said threw out players and managers through whim more than circumstance.

Bragan this week was fined $100 by Giles and warned that severe penalties might result unless he changed his policies. The fine was for coming back on the field after offer soft drinks to the umpires after they had ejected him from the game.

It was likely that Bragan's sense of humor had an effect upon Brown's decision to oust him, and it is equally likely that Brown might have received some suggestions from Giles about Bragan's future.

Brown said Murtaugh would take over the seventh-place National League club with the understanding "that this is just a temporary assignment for the rest of the year and is in no way a commitment for 1958."

Pirate officials said coach Clyde Sukeforth first was offered the job but, knowing the choice was between him and Murtaugh, declined the offer.

Group Handles Tough Realty Problems

WASHINGTON — (UP) — How can the value of millions of acres of land be assessed as of 100 years ago?

It belonged to the Indians then, but they "lost" their claim in the surge of white settlers westward in 1858.

The United States government finally has caught up with the problem and placed it in the hands of the American Society of Real Estate Counselors, an affiliate of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

The ASREC was organized by NAREB in 1953 to help realtors entangle such knotty problems as:

How does one decide the value of half an international bridge when the bridge is under five feet of water and the other half is owned by a foreign government?

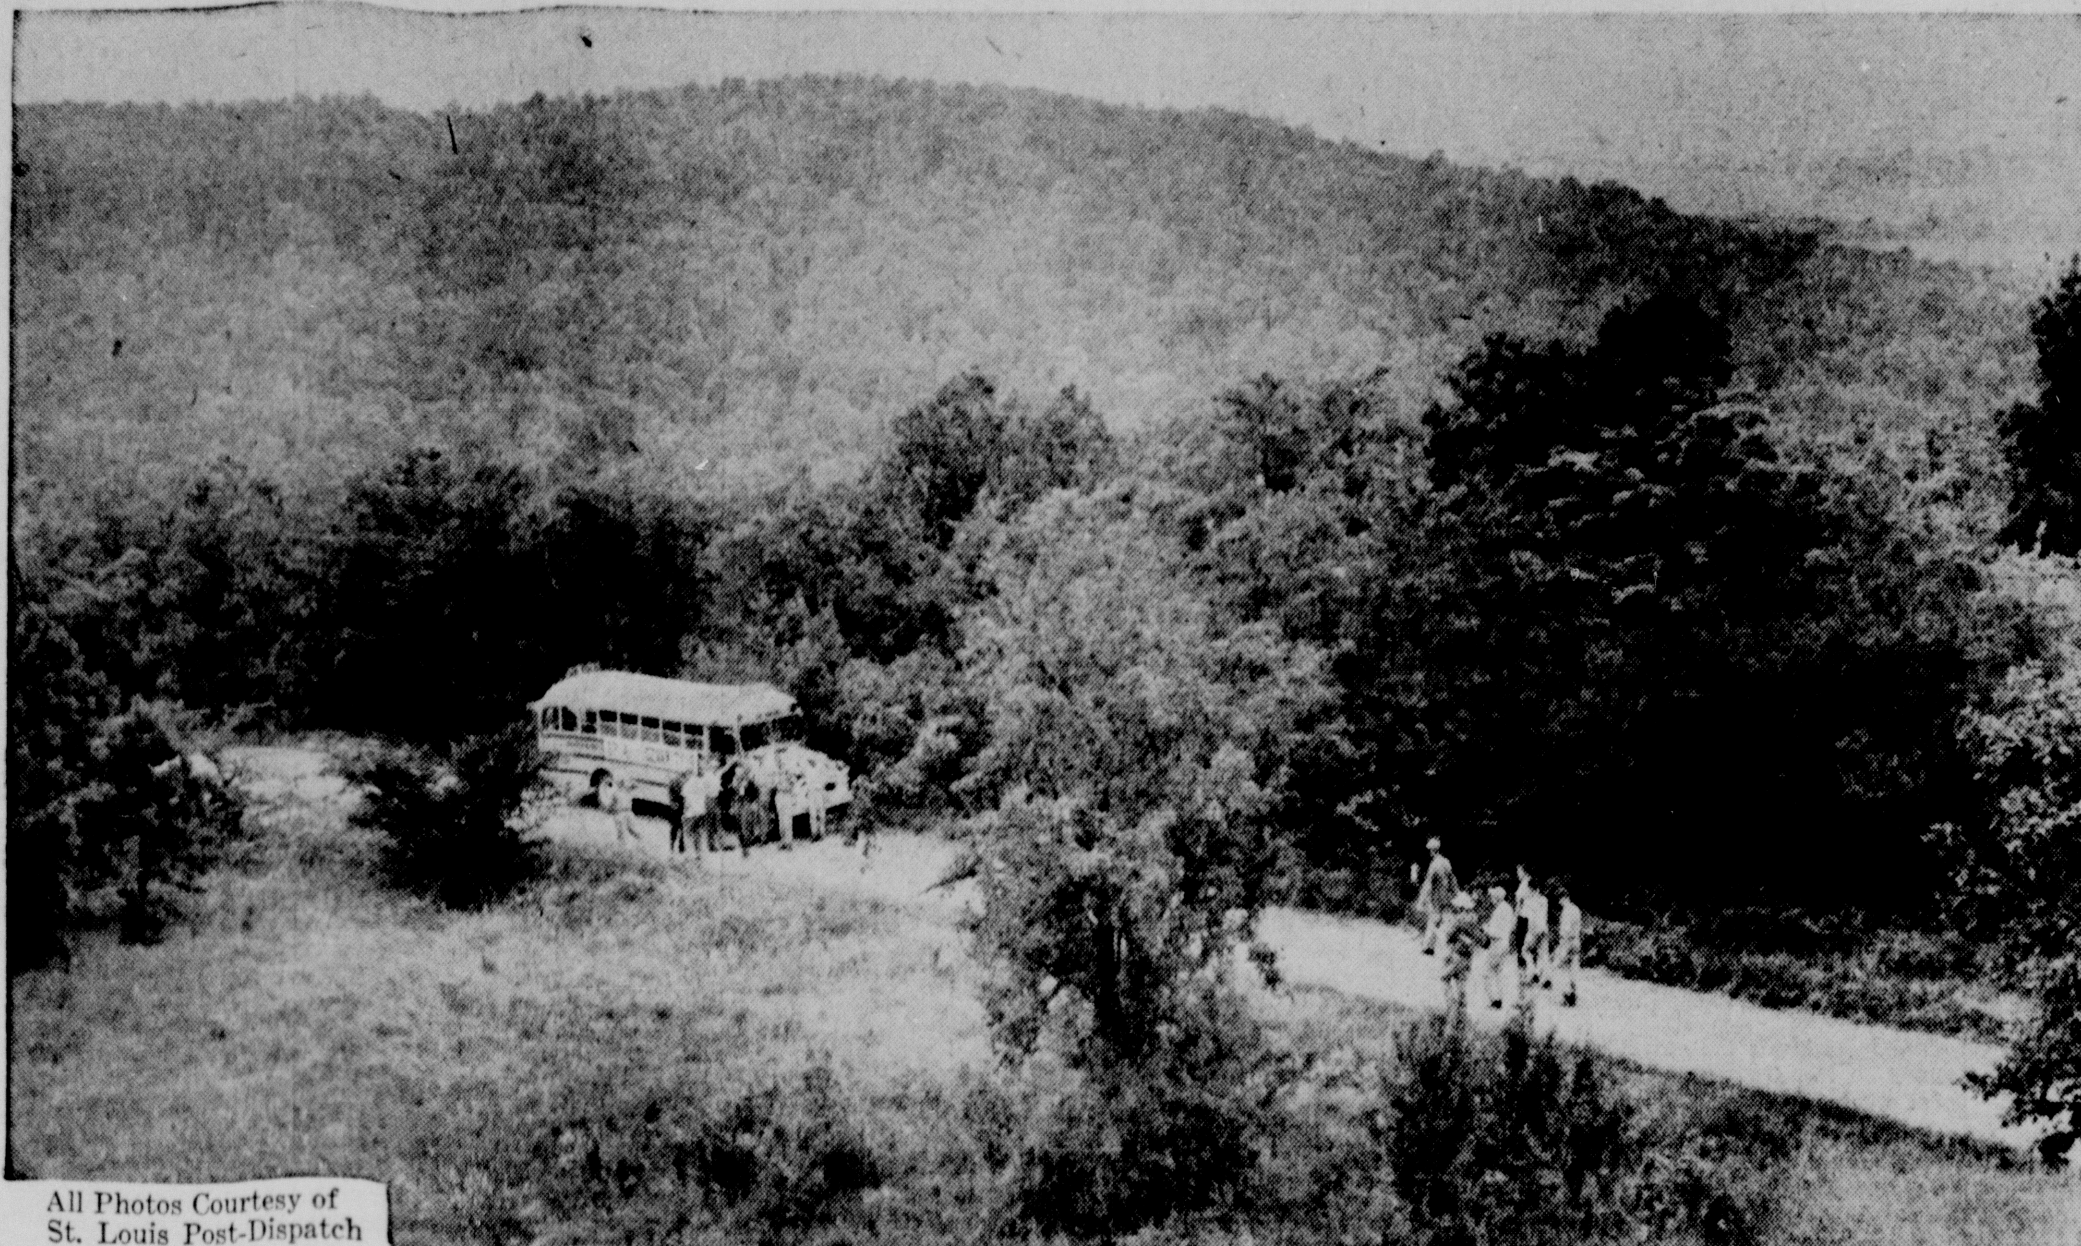

How can the owner of a beautiful tropical island in the Pacific develop it as a tourist attraction?

How best could one plan the development of a potential industrial area?

Or—what should be done with the old properties of a college which has moved to a new location?

These and other such puzzlers have brought the U. S. government and private concerns and individuals to the American Society of Real Estate Counselors for help and guidance. For a stipulated fee, the society diligently tackles all such real estate tangles.

Natural rock bridge at Cypress is found steady but precarious for passage by Larry Baldwin (left), Harrisburg, and Bill Carr, Pontiac, Mich. White building at rear is the Cypress Church of Christ. The unusual formation is 100 yards east of the main part of town, easily reached by a road. It is one of six natural bridges in Southern Illinois, of which the best known is the one at Pomona. All six are little publicized.

Women of the Gilead Presbyterian Church near Simpson crowd around Lewis Nielsen, Marion, to offer him more food from heaping plates which loaded the table for a noon family-style meal. From left were Mrs. Helen Kerley, Mrs. Imogene Choate, Mrs. Norma Russell and Mrs. Ruby Burris, all of Simpson. Flanking Nielsen, general manager of the Southern Division of the General Telephone Co., were John Emison (left) and William H. Farley, both of Harrisburg. Farley was tour chief.

A chance for the men to be boys with a swim in the natural, always a tour highlight, came this year at the foot of Gore falls southeast of Goreville.

Members of the twenty-seventh annual Ozark Tour return to their school bus after climbing Trigg Lookout tower in Shawnee National Forest near Simpson, Ill. Later explorations during the day were in adjoining rolling country similar to that behind the chartered vehicle. The tour and tower both are named for the trip founder, the late L. O. Trigg, Eldorado newspaper publisher. About 30 persons took part in all phases, leaving Harrisburg a week ago Sunday and returning last Tuesday.

Jerry Klaviva (left), administrative assistant on the headquarters staff at Harrisburg of the Shawnee National Forest, talking with the group during a rest stop in the travel through the country near Simpson. He worked as a ranger in Missouri for 20 years, mostly at Potosi and Doniphan. The Ozarkers try to get facts about the country in which they are walking whenever possible.

A typical shelter bluff, in country near the Johnson-Pope county line north of Robbs, is inspected by the group. A little later Dillon, an amateur geologist, told his walking companions that the sandstone bluffs of which it is a part probably were first bared by withdrawing seas as long ago as 350,000,000 years. The huge boulders like the ones making the "turkey pen" probably eased away from the parent formation slowly, he indicated, at a time difficult to estimate. The smaller rocks shown probably fell from the ceiling. At any rate, Dillon does not believe the shelter bluffs are the result of corrosive water action. They are in country which was the farthest northern reach of the ancient Gulf of Mexico. Interesting and spectacular, they are surrounded by trees and generally difficult to reach.

At 5 a.m. Earl Hancock (top), Harrisburg, begins pulling up cots and bed rolls from collection point in front of Scout Cave (rear) where the party spent the preceding Monday night. Assisting were Joe Dillon (left), Christopher, and Frank Modglin, Metropolis. The cave was reached by a slope about 200 yards to the right of the area of the picture. The overhang, about 40 feet wide, creates one of the most picturesque shelter bluffs in the entire southern part of the state. It is easily reached from a point about midway between Goreville and Tunnel Hill. The cave shelter bluff, on private property, is unmarked by locating signs.

Odd leaf formation is examined by Wayman Presley, Makanda, with illuminated magnifying glass for benefit of E. L. Rozier, Patoka; Goffrey Hughes, (second from right), Carbondale, and Klaviva. At the time they were at the shelter bluffs of the R. L. Hayden farm near Ozark.
